VENEER AND FAR

Plywood might look light as a feather, but make no mistake - this light-hued wood hides a distinctive strength and durability. Its warmth, texture and sustainability also make plywood a firm favourite with designers. Iconic plywood designs, such as the Penguin Donkey, have been in production for over 70 years. Now several contemporary pieces also promise to become collectables. For a playful take on ply this summer, pick creations with a fun pop of primary colour. As natural or with a colourful twist, there's no question veneer will go far.

Birkwood
Scotland

Birkwood Scotland is a family business, based in Highland Perthshire. Expert cabinet makers, they specialise in working with solid birch plywood and plastic laminate. "Plywood has always been an innovative material to work with," explains founder Mark. "It's versatile, with a lovely grain finish. The wood is combined with laminates, which is unusual and in hundreds of colours and styles, to create simple yet striking bespoke kitchens and furniture. Whether your style is traditional or contemporary, these plywood designs will stand the test of time. By Steve Whelan in his personal and professional life, he is a father, a husband, a father-in-law, a grandfather and a friend.
